Dear Harold,

I've had this clipping sitting on my desk for weeks, but I just haven't had the time to sit down & write you a note. I'm buried in work right now, so please excuse my keeping this so short. Just thought you might be interested in seeing that your "dear buddy" Cyril has gotten himself in some hot water. He was arraigned last week, & every day the story gets more involved - it's great entertainment; I run for the newspaper everyday to see what the newest chapter is in the continuing saga.

If I can somehow manage to get through a good bit of my work, I hope to drive down to D.C. sometime next month to visit a friend. If things work out, I'll let you know when I'll be passing through & can stop in to say hello. Take care - hi to Lil.

Karen
